INTRODUCTION

The Journal of Interior Design (JID) is published by the Interior Design Educators Council (IDEC). The JID Board of Directors (BoD) is a board of IDEC and this document describes the activities and organizational structure of the Journal and ensures the Journal of Interior Design continues to publish timely and relevant interior design scholarship. The Policy and Procedures Manual of the Journal of Interior Design is a working document that reflects the mission and core values and facilitates the vision of IDEC.

MISSION STATEMENT (updated January 2022)

The Journal of Interior Design is a leading scholarly, peer reviewed, international publication which advances theory, research, education and the practice of interior design.

AIMS & SCOPE (updated February 2022)

The Journal of Interior Design is a scholarly, refereed publication dedicated to a pluralistic exploration of the interior environment. The Journal seeks to move the discipline forward by welcoming scholarly inquiry from diverse and interdisciplinary approaches, perspectives, and methods that actively explore and analyze the evolving definition of the interior. The Journal's publications investigate the interior relative to design, human perception, behavior, and experience, at all scales and for all conditions. Scholarship published in the Journal shapes, informs, and defines interior design education, practice, research, criticism, and theory. (Updated February 2021)

RESPONSIBILITIES

The Journal of Interior Design's Board of Directors, Editors, and Reviewers shall uphold the IDEC Code of Ethics to the best of their knowledge and ability, recognizing that leadership in IDEC and the publication of the Journal of Interior Design is a privilege and a responsibility. The review and dissemination of scholarly work requires adherence to the highest ethical and professional standards and must abide by the protocols described within this document.

MASTER CALENDAR OF ACTIVITY FOR JID PRODUCTION

The Editor(s), Associate Editor(s), and Guest/Special Issues Editor(s) shall follow the production schedule set by the Journal's Publisher for quarterly production. Author and reviewer deadlines shall be set with regard to the production schedule allowing on-time delivery of materials to the publisher.

JID* BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The Board of Directors is responsible for determining policy, advancing and supporting the mission of JID, and strategically planning to achieve the vision of the Journal. The Board of Directors creates and implements a strategic plan that advances the Journal and fulfills IDEC's strategic initiatives. The JID Board meets face-to-face twice annually to conduct the business of the Journal. One meeting is in conjunction with the annual conference; a second meeting is generally in the summer. The JID BoD conducts other business, when necessary, via regularly scheduled conference call.

The JID Board of Directors is composed of three Directors (one of whom serves as Chair), the Editorial team, and the IDEC Board Director of Scholarship. The Editors and IDEC Director of Scholarship are non-voting members. The IDEC Executive Director also serves on the Board as a non-voting member.

Term of office varies according to position and efforts to stagger terms shall be made. However, responsibilities begin May 1 of the appropriate year and run until April 30. New members attend the Board meeting held in conjunction with the annual conference prior to beginning their term of office for transition and orientation.

CHAIR

The Chair of the JID Board of Directors coordinates all activities of the JID providing vision and leadership that support the mission of the Journal. The Chair also shapes the strategic plan with the JID Board and is directed by its goals. The Chair serves as a representative of the JID to outside entities and stakeholders and acts as a voice for its editors, authors, volunteers, and readers.

Appointment and Term of Service

Qualifications:

- An individual, having served a minimum of one year on the JID Board.
- A member in good standing of IDEC.

Appointment: Recommended by the current chair and approved by the JID BoD with ratification by the IDEC BoD.

Term: 3 years with an option of renewable term(s).

Responsibilities and Duties

- Serves as Chair of the JID Board of Directors.
- Maintains a Strategic Plan in consultation with the IDEC Board Director of Scholarship, the Editor(s), JID Board of Directors, IDEC Executive Director, and the Publisher.

JID REVIEW BOARD

Members of the Review Board are experts in content areas and methods of investigation who provide critique and feedback on submitted papers. The Reviewers make recommendations for publication to the Editor(s) and Associate/Guest Editors. The Editor(s) maintains a current list of reviewers and terms of service.

Appointment and Term of Service

Qualifications: The Review Board is composed of accomplished scholars who have demonstrated through publication, presentations, and critical and creative scholarship their abilities to assess the unique strengths of the submissions. All current reviewers must have an updated CV on file. If the reviewer is offered additional terms, then the reviewer is asked to submit an updated CV or confirm that the one on file is the most current.

Appointment: Members are appointed by the Editorial Team. Every effort shall be made to identify a distributed representation of reviewers in terms of subject expertise and geographic locations.

Term: 3 years (may be continued for additional terms following positive evaluation by the Editorial Team). All first year appointments are probationary and may only be continued based upon service excellence.

Ad Hoc Reviewers: The Editors may also appoint Ad Hoc Reviewers, having appropriate expertise, on an as-needed basis for review of a single manuscript or a special issue.

Removal from Review Board: Members of the JID Review Board may be removed in writing by the Editors for failure to perform their assignments and responsibilities in a consistent and timely manner (e.g., complete a minimum of one review per year, exhibit willingness to use online review system, and participate in training sessions). It is expected that upon completion of any service juncture, the Editors shall prepare a letter of acknowledgement detailing their contributions to JID.

Responsibilities and Duties

- Review a minimum of one paper each year, if offered.

AD HOC COMMITTEES/TASK FORCES

At the request of the JID Chair and Board, Ad Hoc committees and Task Force committees may be developed to perform specific tasks associated with the Journal. Members of these committees will be selected from the IDEC membership and from stakeholders in the larger design community that bring vision, expertise, and skills to a specific task.

OPERATING POLICIES

All changes to the JID Policies and Procedures shall be submitted to the IDEC Secretary and to the IDEC Board Director of Scholarship for review and ratification by the IDEC BoD.

Voting: For the purposes of transacting business, a quorum shall be a minimum of two voting members present and two non-voting members. Board members may use electronic voting procedures if needed.

Budget: The JID Board of Directors shall propose an annual budget to the IDEC BoD by June 1 for approval. The budget shall be submitted prior to the IDEC BoD summer meeting and the JID/IDEC Board Director of Scholarship shall present the annual budget on behalf of the JID Board. The budget shall cover the budget year of the organization. The IDEC Executive Director shall provide written approval of the proposed budget in advance of the budget year cycle. The Chair of the JID Board will receive a quarterly summary of expenses from the IDEC Executive Director.

The budget shall allow for expenses related to the semi-annual board meetings, editorial stipends and funds for special initiatives.

Board Meetings: Travel expenses for the Summer Board Meeting (e.g., travel, lodging, and meals for the Board members, Editors). Additionally, travel expenses related the Annual IDEC Conference shall be provided for JID board members/editors who are required to attend pre- or post-conference activities.

Editor Stipends: The budget shall include stipends for the Editorial Team. Chair of the JID BoD shall initiate the semi-annual payment in keeping with the Editors' letters of appointment. Stipend payment schedule shall be detailed in the letter of appointment.

Special Initiatives: Budget requests shall provide for special initiatives and projects identified by the JID BoD.

Income: The budget will identify anticipated income generation through Publisher stipends, workshops, symposia, CEU generation, and other sources.

Anna Brightman Fund Management (revised March 2020): The Anna Brightman Fund was received from the estate of Anna Brightman in 1991 to expand and enhance the Journal. The fund is held by the Interior Design Educators Council Foundation (IDECF) and managed pursuant to the IDECF's policies. In 1992 the JID BoD requested the IDECF manage the fund as a voluntarily endowed account. The endowed status protected the original corpus and subsequent contributions to the fund but limited the funds available for use by the JID BoD. In April 2019, the IDEC BoD confirmed the JID BoD may manage and use the Brightman Fund without additional IDEC BoD approval (see IDEC minutes, 11 April 2019). In March 2020, the JID BoD directed the IDECF to manage the account as a cash account.

The JID BoD is dedicated to maintaining strong stewardship of the Brightman Fund. The BoD will use the following guidelines in making decisions about use of the Brightman Fund:

1. The original Brightman gift and long-time fund management practices have identified the Fund to support the aspirational goals of expanding and enhancing the Journal.
2. The BoD is committed to the continued growth of the Brightman Fund. As of March 2020, fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) of the account shall be recognized as a reserve fund to promote continued interest growth. At the end of each fiscal year, the BoD will rebalance the account. If the total value of the Fund's end-of-year balance exceeds $25,000 more than the reserve value, then 10% of the excess will be transferred to the reserve fund.
3. The Brightman Fund shall not be used to cover operational expenses related to the typical business of the Journal.
4. The BoD should not authorize withdrawals exceeding one-quarter of the account's non-reserve balance as determined on December 31 of any fiscal year to be spent within the following fiscal year. The BoD shall request the IDECF provide the account balance of the Brightman Fund as of December 31 each year.
5. The BoD shall only authorize withdrawals from the Fund with a unanimous vote. Withdrawals that would reduce the reserve fund shall require a formal recommendation from two (2) former Chairs of the JID BoD, as well as a unanimous vote of the BoD.

(Policy adopted March 2020.)

Resignations: Resignations shall be made in writing to the Chair of JID BoD. Directors shall direct their resignation to the Chair who will present such requests to the JID Board. The Editor(s) shall direct their resignations to the Board of Directors and are required to give a minimum six-month notice of resignation.

Removal: Editors and Board Members are expected to fulfill their respective roles as identified in the Policies and Procedures document and outlined in the respective letter of appointment. An inability or unwillingness to execute responsibilities such that the publication of the Journal of Interior Design is compromised may result in the individual being relieved of responsibilities by the JID BoD and the IDECF BoD.

Conflict of Interest: To avoid any potential conflict of interest, the Editors shall follow the standards outlined in the Best Practice Guidelines on Publication Ethics with regard to their own scholarship and that of colleagues and graduate students.

PUBLISHER

The JID Board of Directors is responsible for the recommendation of the Publisher to the IDECF Board of Directors for ratification and for the continued management of the publishing relationship. The Publisher for the Journal of Interior Design provides production and marketing services to JID. See Appendix 3 for current contract.

Marketing

For the purpose of marketing relevant products, the Publisher may use IDECF's membership list. However, the membership list cannot be distributed to other clients of the Publisher without express permission from the JID Board.

Relationships

The Editorial Team maintains a relationship with the Publisher's production staff. The Executive Director, IDEC Board Director of Scholarship, and the JID Chair maintain a relationship with the publisher's staff directly responsible for the IDEC/JID account.

MARKETING

The JID Board of Directors, in accord with the IDEC Office and the Publisher, will work to enhance the Journal's visibility, maintain and increase the Journal's subscription revenue, and maintain and increase the submission of high-quality papers for publication.

The JID Board of Directors will utilize existing venues established and maintained by IDEC:

IDEC Website

- The IDEC website will maintain a link to the JID Publisher-sponsored website.
- The IDEC website will maintain a link to the current JID Perspective, available to all visitors at no charge.
- JID content is available to all IDEC members in good standing and can be accessed through the members only portion of the IDEC website. This access is maintained by the IDEC webmaster in cooperation with the JID Publisher.

IDEC Exchange, eNews, and Listserv

The JID Board of Directors and/or the IDEC Management Company will work together to ensure that JID information is included in the Exchange. Time sensitive materials, such as calls for candidates, requests for proposals, and calls for papers, will be distributed to the IDEC membership utilizing other electronic methods.

Social Networking

The IDEC Management Company will assume primary responsibility for marketing through social media. The JID Board of Directors will support their efforts as necessary in terms of notifying them of content, etc.

The Journal of Interior Design social media presence will work in tandem with the IDEC presence. The Board members will work collaboratively with the IDEC Management Company and IDEC Communications Committee to ensure that JID content and information is updated

SPECIAL EVENTS

For the purpose of fulfilling the vision and mission of the Journal of Interior Design, the Board of Directors will schedule and facilitate special events. These events will contribute to the visibility and long-term viability of JID.

In addition to the events below, other opportunities will be considered by the Board. Events shall directly contribute to the mentoring of scholars and writers, develop the depth and breadth of the reviewer pool, and/or provide opportunities to develop scholarship for submission to the Journal.

Journal of Interior Design Reviewers Training

The JID Reviewers Training may occur at the Annual IDEC Conference as a Pre-Conference event or as a Webinar. It shall be used to communicate to the Review Board members such information as the status of the JID, new events occurring, and strategies related to the review process, and other issues related to the reviewers' responsibilities.

Journal of Interior Design Writers Workshop

In keeping with its mission, the JID Board of Directors will regularly organize Writers' Workshops. These workshops will be offered in live and virtual settings and will address a range of topics with regard to writing for publication. The Board members will coordinate activities with the Annual IDEC Conference organizers and with the IDEC for scheduling. Fees will be assessed for the purpose of offsetting event costs and funding JID initiatives.

Symposia

The JID Board of Directors may sponsor pre-conference symposium to encourage development and dissemination of scholarship concerning timely and relevant topics. The symposia may be used to assist in generating manuscripts for a JID special issue.

One Director will facilitate marketing efforts of the RFP and the subsequent symposium to IDEC membership and other stakeholders. Additionally, the Director will liaise between the JID Board and the Symposium hosts to ensure a high quality event fulfilling JID goals. Startup funding may be provided at the discretion of the JID Board while the bulk of the symposia cost should be generated from registration fees. Income in excess of the symposium expenses will be returned to the Board.

AWARDS (revised March 2020; October 2022)

The JID shall recognize excellence in published work and peer review with annual awards.

Best Article Award: The Best Article Award shall be selected by a five-member committee:

- A member of the JID BoD;
- A Visual Essay reviewer/author
- A traditional scholarship paper reviewer/author
- An individual representing the JID readership but who has not published in JID;
and
- One additional member.

The Editorial Board will identify 6-8 of the top papers and visual essays published in the Journal during the past calendar year. No members of the committee shall have reviewed the short list papers as part of the peer review process.

The committee will use the rubric in Appendix 3.

Reviewer of the Year Award: This award falls under the purview of the Editorial Team. In general, the ET will select a reviewer from the cohort whose term ends that calendar year. However, in the event that the data does not reveal an outstanding reviewer, then the ET may open it up to the entire Review Board. The ET uses the following data points as part of their decision.

- Reviewer ratings. Throughout the year, all editors (guest, associate, editor-in-chief) are asked to rate the quality of reviews as they are submitted. An average score is available through the Publisher’s manuscript tracking system.
- Number of reviews accepted and completed during the most recent three-year term.

SELECTION OF PERSPECTIVE ESSAY AUTHORS (added October 2023)

Perspective essays are editor reviewed, rather than peer reviewed, and typically draw on experience and scholarship to express arguments or emerging ideas. Perspective essays are 1,500 – 3,000 words.

Authors for Perspective essays are invited at the discretion of the Editor-in-Chief, in consultation with the Associate Editors. The Journal strives to include new authors, increase the diversity of the authors we publish, and address varied topics related to the international body of knowledge.”

APPENDICES

Appendix 1: Schedule of Stipends (typical)

First stipend issued May 15, second stipend issued November 15.

JID Board will allocate the portion of the Editors' stipends based on the combinations of editors involved in the JID production. Stipend amounts will be outlined in the editors' letters of agreement. Depending on who the payment is issued to, different tax laws may apply.

Appendix 4: Example Letters of Appointment

Editor / Associate Editor

Dear [Appointee],

The Journal of Interior Design (JID) is proud to be a leading academic journal for the interior design discipline. Published on behalf of the Interior Design Educators Council (IDEC) for over 40 years, JID is in more than 2,300 libraries around the world and is listed in the Arts & Humanities Citation Index for Thompson Reuters. As you are aware, JID has recently undergone a graphic update and made a commitment to engaging more diverse types of scholarship, which has positioned us on a positive trajectory relative to several strategic goals. As with all great endeavors, however, JID has achieved these notable successes only because of the individuals—the editorial team, board, reviewers, authors and publisher—who are committed to its publication and advancement.

JID's Board of Directors recently reviewed your application to join the JID team in the role of [Role] and, based on your record of scholarship, publication and demonstrated leadership, voted to recommend your appointment (term to run [date] to [date]) to the IDEC Board of Directors. The IDEC Board of Directors has ratified our recommendation and this letter serves as formal confirmation of your appointment to the role of [Role] for the JID. Although we have previously discussed the formal duties associated with this position, you are welcome and encouraged to review those, in addition to the remainder of the JID Policies and Procedures, in the attachment provided here, as you prepare to assume this new role.

The [Role] receives a stipend of $[x],000 annually paid in two equal parts in May and November. You should communicate to the chair of the JID Board your intentions as to its disbursement. It can be paid to you directly or to your university. These details should be addressed prior to the start date of this position.

On behalf of the JID directors and editors, welcome once again to the JID team! We are excited to have your knowledge and expertise as we continue to advance JID's strategic goals and initiatives in the coming years.

With best regards,

Chair, JID Board of Directors

Board of Directors

Dear [Appointee],

The Journal of Interior Design (JID) is proud to be a leading academic journal for the interior design discipline. Published on behalf of the Interior Design Educators Council (IDEC) for over 40 years, JID is in more than 2,300 libraries around the world and is listed in the Arts & Humanities Citation Index for Thompson Reuters. As you are aware, JID has recently undergone a graphic update and made a commitment to engaging more diverse types of scholarship, which has positioned us on a positive trajectory relative to several strategic goals. As with all great endeavors, however, JID has achieved these notable successes only because of the individuals—the editorial team, board, reviewers, authors and publisher—who are committed to its publication and advancement.

JID's Board of Directors recently reviewed your application to join the JID Board in the role of director and, based on your record of scholarship, publication and demonstrated leadership, voted to recommend your appointment as director (term to run May 1, 2020 – April 30, 2023) to the IDEC Board of Directors. The IDEC Board of Directors has ratified our recommendation and this letter serves as formal confirmation of your appointment to the role of director for the JID Board of Directors. Although we have previously discussed the formal duties associated with this position, you are welcome and encouraged to review those, in addition to the remainder of the JID Policies and Procedures, in the attachment provided here, as you prepare to assume this new role.

It will be important for you to participate in the JID board at our summer board meeting as your term commences. The meeting location will be in [Location], and the dates will be set very shortly. The expenses incurred by board members to attend our summer board meetings are covered by IDEC. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions. An agenda outlining the summer board meeting agenda is forthcoming. Effective [date], [chair] will assume the chair position for the JID board, and you will begin receiving communications directly from him very soon.

On behalf of the JID directors and editors, welcome to the JID board! We are excited to have your knowledge and expertise as we continue to advance JID's strategic goals and initiatives in the coming years.

With best regards,

Chair, JID Board of Directors
